DETAILED ACTION

1. After the amendment filed 07/09/2008 claims 1-6 were cancelled and claims 7-9 were newly added. Therefore claims 7-9 are pending.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 7 and 9 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Regarding claims 7 and 9: "judging to be"pass" if said... "Should be changed to --judging to be pass if said...--

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Parappa
The Rapper (Herein referred to as Parappa)

Parappa is a game release by Sony Computer Entertainment, Incorporated in 1997 for the Playstation game console. Each button on the player's controller corresponds to a word, which when combined with the other buttons creates a sentence. Each level provides the player with different words, and different melodies that correspond to the words. The game provides small portions of spoken vocals that are triggered when the appropriate buttons are pressed. Provided for the player is a rhythm bar, which shows the player what order to press the buttons and at what time to push the buttons in order to provide the correct words in a sequence of words. Pressing the buttons in the correct order with the correct timing (the difference between the time the game displays the command to press a certain button and the time the player actually presses that button), provides an intelligible rap while pressing the buttons in an incorrect order or with lousy timing provides the player with an unintelligible rap, which has a different pitch than if the buttons are pressed in the correct order within the right time (Wikipedia, Lines 8-10). The player is given an overall rating dependent on the accuracy and timing of the player's button actuation which is based on the difference between the time the game commands the player to push a button and the time the player actually presses that button, and if the player's rating is high enough the player is allowed to proceed to the next level. If the player presses the buttons within a predetermined time period the game's rating meter will raise from "Good" to "Cool" indicating the player's accumulated evaluation, also if the player does not press the game buttons within the predetermined time period the rating meter will lower to "Bad" or "Awful" dependent on how often the player does not press the buttons within the predetermined time (GameFAQ's, Section (IV) (Game play), Section 3 (Page 5)).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 7-9 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
